

C
F22J
V.5.3

Fargo College Bulletin

PUBLISHED QUARTERLY

BY

FARGO COLLEGE

FARGO, NORTH DAKOTA

November, 1909

Vol. V. No. 3

Entered as second-class matter May 13, 1905, at the Post Office at Fargo,
North Dakota, under Act of Congress of July 16, 1894

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Carnegie Library

HON. L. B. HANNA, Treasurer of Fargo College, writing from Washington, has informed the president that he has secured from Mr. Carnegie a promise that his pledge of $15,000.00 toward a Library will be increased to $20,000.00 provided a like sum is secured by the trustees toward endowment. The remaining $5,000.00 to meet the conditions named will be secured by the trustees in the near future, and the building will be completed and ready for use by the opening of the Autumn Semester.

The new Library, which will be 70 feet long and about 38 feet wide, will have room for at least 20,000 volumes, also ample accommodations for the new Department of Art. The committee on design are determined to have a beautiful building, complete and up-to-date in every respect, an honor to the college and an ornament to the campus and city.

The Art Department

THE Trustees have voted to open a Department of Art, which will be ready for the entrance of students at the beginning of the college year. It is believed that many of our young people will be ready to take advantage of this opportunity to promote culture and refinement and in many cases it is hoped it may start those who have artistic gifts on professional art careers.

The course will be similar to those of the English schools and will consist in drawing in charcoal, crayon, pen and ink, painting in oil and water colors and modeling in clay. The elementary work will consist of drawing from natural objects, block figures and casts of parts of the human figure, which will be followed by drawings from casts of the masterpieces of Greek and Roman statuary. The advance work will consist of drawing and painting in oil direct from life and from nature as well as modeling in clay. In addition to this instruction will be given in china painting, composition, design and the history of art.

Addition to the Faculty

MR. GUY R. VOWLES, Class of 1906, who completes his course at Oxford next June as a Rhodes scholarship man has been invited to become a member of the faculty and we are expecting him to begin his work with us in September. Mr. Vowles was distinguished while in college for his scholarship and manly qualities and with his three years of travel and study abroad, we are sure he will take, at once, a leading place among the educators of the state.

Department of Public Speaking

IT IS the aim of this department to set before every student in the college and academy the opportunity to develop practical ability in those forms of public speaking which will be expected of them in later life. For those specially interested, training is offered in all forms of public address. These ends are accomplished in two ways. The college and academy literary organizations together with the intercollegiate debate and oratorical contest and the inter-preparatory debate and declamatory contest offer a wide field for independent effort. Prizes to the amount of $115.00 are offered this year to the successful contestants on those occasions and they are also recognized with a reasonable amount of school credit. The regular courses in Literary interpretation, Extempore Speaking, Argumentation and Oratory, afford more sympathetic development along these lines under the supervision of an instructor. Public speaking has come more and more to be recognized this year as a growing department and is taking a large place in the activities of the college.

FOR CATALOGUE AND FURTHER INFORMATION, ADDRESS
CHARLES C. CREEGAN, President

FOR INFORMATION REGARDING CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, ADDRESS
PROF. W. W. GEORGE

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

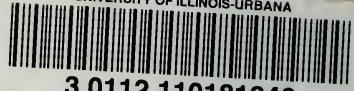

THE FRESHMEN CLASS

THE FOOTBALL TEAM OF 1909-10

THE COLLEGE BAND

3 0112 110181846

COLLEGE BUILDINGS

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB